Before You Start

Do We Speak the Same Language?

HIV stands for human immunodeficiency virus. It is the virus that can lead to acquired immunodeficiency syndrome, or AIDS. Unlike some other viruses, the human body cannot get rid of HIV. That means that once you have HIV, you have it for life.

In the United States, HIV is spread mainly by having sex with or sharing drug injection equipment with someone who is infected with HIV. Learn which kinds of sexual activity are riskiest and why HIV cannot be spread by casual contact such as hugging or shaking hands.

HIV is preventable. Find out more about how testing, condoms, safer sex, and biomedical options can lower the risk for you and your partners.

Prevention IS Care

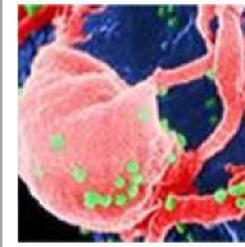

AIDS: Acquired immunodeficiency syndrome. AIDS is a disease that causes a weak immune system. AIDS increases the risk of getting certain infections and cancers.

HIV: Human immunodeficiency virus. HIV is the virus that causes AIDS. Having HIV doesn't mean a person has AIDS.

STDs: Sexually transmitted diseases that are spread by having sex. Examples are syphilis and gonorrhea.

Mission

Get the facts. Get tested. Get involved.

HIV Basic facts

HIV is a virus that your body cannot get rid of...once you have HIV, you have it for life.

Basic Statistics

- About every 3 and a half days someone in Nebraska becomes infected with HIV.
- About every 20 minutes someone in Nebraska gets an STD/STI.

Transmission

In the US, HIV is spread mainly by having sex with or sharing drug injection equipment with someone who is infected with HIV. Learn which kinds of sexual activity are riskiest and why HIV cannot be spread by casual contact such as hugging or shaking hands.

Testing

One in five people with HIV are unaware of their infection. That's why CDC recommends that everyone between the ages of 13 and 64 get tested at least once and that high-risk groups get tested more often
